
Story

Segmentation

A police captain have a lot of task to do in a day: Be part of meeting, be inform of any progress in current investigation, communicate important information to the police chief officer, interrogation session, etc.

Targeting

The main task is the management of patrol teams. Those team are manage by a sergeant who dispatch the patrols in the available patrol car. A patrol can be in team with another patrol or ride in solo. Sometime, a patrol need to do office work. Today, the overview and the information of the patrols are in separate application because the program used were not developed with a role based thinking.

Positioning

With Fiori app, we want to centralize this information for the role of our police captain. It will be possible to get primary information about a patrol and any officer which are managed by the captain, get the position of the patrols, what is the dispatch zone and the task of the patrol during the day. (Example: Radar, neighborhood watch, on duty call, etc.) The application need to be intuitive and easy to understand knowing that a police captains are not always at ease with technology. Sometime, the captain need to consult this information on a mobile device.

This app could be used by every police captain of a department or a city if we want to expand use of the application.

Persona

Point of view

Enrico need to follow the task and the information of his patrol team at any moment and with ease. The solution need to be easy to use and regroup the general information of his team.

NOTICE

When I published my App on the Fiori Launchpad, I was aware of some problem. That I corrected with the idea of republished my app. For an unknown reason, I wasn't able to update my app with my modification OR even recreate it even if I delete it of the Launchpad In my SAP Hana.

There is the list of what was missing and that I corrected:

- The counter were removed on the Icon Tab list
- Double “:” on those label:
 - Regimental ID
 - Birth

Please, if you see some problem in the App., be sure to check on my print screen if I correct it.

Thank you and I wish you enjoy my app! 😊
